

Planning a fable

A fable is a short story that teaches a simple message. Use this planner to plan a fable of your own.

Choose one of the morals from the list below:

A moral is the message we want the person reading to learn about

- Slow and steady wins the race.
- If you lie you may not be believed when you tell the truth.
- No one is too small to help someone bigger.
- OR think of your own!

Setting

When and where is your story set? Any drawings used will need to show this too.

Select characters

The clever and cunning fox?

The regal, proud and powerful lion?

The slow and steady tortoise?

The wise old owl?

Draw your chosen animal and write their main characteristics. (you did this on Tuesday)

Problem and solution

Fables have a problem that needs to be solved to teach the lesson. Can you decide what problem you will use and what solution?
