Thursday 14.01.21	Answer the following question: Using evidence from the text, give examples of how the author builds a sense of danger surrounding the impending storm.	Play scripts are different. They don't use speech marks, but obviously, people are speaking in a play. However, it is easy to change plays into stories by using speech marks and the text given Change this short passage from a play into a story using speech marks where necessary. Try and add parts in to make it interesting to read. If you need a reminder about how to use speech punctuation, this clip will help you: https://www.bbc.co.uk/bitesize/clips/zjjfb9q Mr P : Should we set the children more homework this weekend? Mr C : You're so cruel! It's the weekend, let them play. Chill out man! Mr P : Me, cruel! Chill out, what kind of a phrase is that for a teacher? Mr C : Give them a break. We'll set the work during the week. Mr P : You're going soft in your old age you know. Mr C : Soft, me! And we'll have less of the old age thank you!	Make a poster to explain the meanings of fraction, denominator, numerator, improper, mixed number. Use examples to make it really clear.	WALT: explore what forces are and notice that some forces need contact between two objects. What is a force? Have a think first, then go through the information on the slides. Which of the pictures are showing pushes and which are showing pulls? Which two things are touching in each picture to create a movement? Which direction the forces are acting in? Complete the activity on the slides page.
