

Planning an Ancient Sumerian City State

Work with your group to design, plan and create a Sumerian city state. Use all the information you have learnt during the lesson and from your own research to help you.

Think about:

- What buildings you need to include - remember ordinary houses, palaces and temples.
- What the streets are like
- How the city State will be organised and fortified

Remember to:

- Use labels for each feature you include.
- Write key facts about your city State to support your plans.

Key Questions:

- What would you call the new city State?
- Who would live there?
- Who would rule the city State?
